

Keep Connected

Salvationist
September 2008 issue
This issue focuses on social justice

Brewing Justice

Fair Trade coffee: Java with a jolt of conscience
(Doug Field)

Cry Freedom

International Social Justice Commission speaks up for those who have no voice
(Interview with Commissioner M. Christine MacMillan)

Offering a Hand Up

Children and families benefit from The Salvation Army's ongoing ministry in Calgary
(Bethany Wall and Rizwan Nathoo)

... And Justice For All

Does everyone deserve equal treatment? How do you champion human rights in a culture of entitlement?
(Captain Amy Reardon and Dr. James Read)

Plus reports on this year's commissioning weekend and Newfoundland and Labrador provincial congress

Visit Salvationist.ca for the latest news and information

Keep Connected

Faith & Friends
September 2008 issue

Hidden Treasure

Liz Curtis Higgs had put away her childhood dreams in an attic, but someone remembered where they were

A Class of Her Own

A proud member of The Salvation Army, Melissa George deftly balances school, a hectic social schedule and her faith

Is There a Doctor in the House?

In TV's hit medical drama House, Hugh Laurie portrays a grouchy physician who breaks the rules but gets results. Yet an even more gifted Healer lived 2,000 years before

Look for these articles in the September Faith & Friends:

- Alleine Hall almost lost her reason to live, but The Salvation Army helped her keep hope alive
- The judge gave Paul a choice; jail or a bus ticket. What would he choose?
- Judy Phillips' volunteer work at The Salvation Army's Howard Hospital is a labour of love
- And more ...